

Generator refueled

I refueled the ISFS generator at BASE today at 12:30pm local on thursday the 10th.

I checked fuel levels and found the smaller upper tank empty, and the lower at 1/2, and refueled both, so it should be good for another three days, expect to refuel again on SUNDAY the 13th.

The rest of the site looks like it weathered the storm passage ok, a little evidence of moisture and the expected winds, but no snow down at this altitude.

We (Damien from Leosphere and myself) are here utilizing bench space to work on the Lidar computer replacement.

Let me know(email or cell) if there is anything else I can check on for you guys while I am here this afternoon.

Thanks, Tim