

Daily Status June 14

Weather: hot and clear with light variable winds. One extra soundings this morning to SW wind obs of turbine wake, then another this evening plus regular soundings (0Z, 3Z, 6Z, 12Z, 18Z, 22Z).

Sodar went down again last night, restarted after noon sounding (see comment on sodar blog entry). Gary reported that the sounding site DSM went down this afternoon - we all attempted to restart it, but no luck so the remaining 7 soundings (18Z on) will be without surface met data.

Kate left this morning and Gary this afternoon - thanks very much to both for all their hard work!