

Daily Status 10 November 2012

Chris

Weather:

Great sunrise but mid-low level clouds moving into the area. Chilly with a breeze this morning. Just hovering above freezing with high humidity.

Status:

All systems reporting. Notice that two baro's are reporting RIP, that is because we have changed from the PTB220 to the Nano-barometers. Realize that more instruments are being added to Ap8 and we should watch the power on that station.

To Do:

- Will deploy the EC100 with it's sonic on Ap8. Everything is ready to go and I will get in contact with Gordon to see if we can see it. We had trouble with seeing it last night.