

Daily Status 30 Nov 2012

Weather

Partly cloudy with high cirrus, light winds, <2 m/s. Temperatures around 0C to 2C.

During the night the winds stayed below 5 m/s.

Status

morning (7:30): All systems running. This is the last day of ops. Teardown will start tomorrow. I plan to do the final boom angle check today.

afternoon (14:45): Completed shooting angles. Per Steve O. request the boom height of the EC150 is 2.502m.

Station 17 was showing a few Idia spikes. I believe this was due to the teardown of Christoph's equipment.
