

CO2 from birds?

We've seen some spikes in the Marshall CO2 data at 10m (also some at 4m). We've also observed a raptor using the 10m boom as a perch. (I tried to take a few photos.) I guess it is possible that the Licor is measuring raptor breath! I update the bird time when I download my photos.