

statsproc_redo

For anyone's information, last night I tweaked all the snow depths and boom angles with the measurements so far and reran the 5-minute statistics for both noqc_instrument and geo up to yesterday. Clearly, we don't have a merged data set yet, so there still will be data gaps. The next steps would be to restart the real-time statsproc to use the new cal_files and to recreate the qctables and webplots. I can do this later today.