

Ops 14 May

Weather: Sunny and hot

A quiet day. Tony worked at the base trailer to start organizing for teardown while I took the white truck to get one of the tires fixed. There was a nail embedded in the back left tire that was creating a slow leak. Now the tire is fixed AND they cleaned the wheel wells that were filthy from CFACT AND they re-calibrated the pressure sensor thingy in the truck so it accurately tracks which tires loose pressure AND it all cost $0.

Clean wheel wells!!

Tomorrow is the last day of SWEX. Data look reasonable on QCTables.