

Little Pine

We removed the Little Pine site today. Everything looked good at the site. Although there was a suspicious half eaten bagel laying in the grass near the solar panel. Emailed before-and-afters photos of the site to the Forest Dept.

Also mailed the satellite phones back to the rental company.

This picture is included so we can later annotate it with the SWEX sites on the far ridge, along the Camino Cielo, since we thought we could see them all.
