

Night sounding

Did a sounding this evening for Matt Hayman, who wants some nighttime data for intercomparison with the MPDs. Launched at about 9:40, easy conditions (calm, still warm, bright almost-full moon). Boy are there a lot of mice scurrying around outside here at night.

