

TP01 values changing

With the rain today, we've started seeing large changes in values from the TP01. As far as I can tell, there is a perfect correlation at every site with soil wetting and higher heat capacities from this event. (This may be the first time I've seen this good a correlation.)