Post Flight Data

Post Flight Data Delivery

Many investigators desire an ASCII product post-flight. The real-time feed or a super-set would be made available post-flight. This is in addition to products a platform may already make available.

As we develop an XML schema, this data file would be described by an XML file.